

Ansell HyFlex Dyneema Gloves

Product Images

Description

The Hyflex Dyneema Gloves are from the Ansell Precision Protection Range. The Dyneema Gloves are suitable for use in final and sub assembly areas where activities include; component and glass handling, small part stamping, wiring and bending small parts of materials

- Advanced yarn technology ensures maximum wearer comfort and protection
- Polyurethane palm coating provides increased grip
- Tear and puncture resistant
- Gauge: 13
- Ergonomically designed to form to the hand shape and movement, preventing hand fatigue
- Product can be washed and re-used with any loss of quality
- Suitable for use in industries including; manufacturing, metal fabrication, electrical wiring and sheet metal users
- Conforms to ANSI Cut Level 2, ANSI Abrasion Level 5 and EN 388-4342
- Also available in a longer length for forearm protection
- Ansell is one of the world's largest manufacturers of personal protective equipment. They have created a critical environment unit, to better serve their customers around the globe in the dynamic, fast-moving critical environment industries